Council Has Quiet Session Last Monday

Set Rates For Rent on The Houses, Reverted to Town

With only half the councillors present at the regular meeting of the town council last Monday evening the session passed off quietly. The mayor was in the chair and councilors Brydie, Newnam and Cameron present.

After the disposal of the minutes Mr. H. Duncanson, chairman of the council, made application to the town council to purchase the building on Broad way just east of Coulter's garage. As the building was not occupied it was rented to Mr. Duncanson. Mr. Cameron asked Council for material to repair his building on Fifth St. Same was granted.

A letter was read from Mr. Cameron's solicitor asking town to pay storage on machinery stored in one of the factory buildings for some time. The motion was lost with solicitor having for investigation on motion of councilors Newnam and Brydie.

Mr. Duncanson wrote asking to purchase lot next her building on First Street. On the motion of councilors Newnam and Cameron was granted to sell her the lot for certain taxes.

Mr. Gust wrote asking permission to build a stable on the lot across the lane from the back of her garage. Permission was given on motion of councilors Brydie and Newnam.

An offer of $35.00 was made for the Lyons property on Third Street. The offer was not accepted.

Accounts as passed by the finance committee were approved for payment.

Council set rates of rents for houses which have reverted to the town since the last tax sale and which are not occupied by the previous owners. It was also decided that in future rents on all such buildings be paid to the town.

On the amendment to the town act, was mentioned, but it was pointed out that before this could be done the question would have to be submitted to the ratepayers to vote upon at the next municipal election.

Farwell Outing For Bowell Farmer

Mr. Myres Leaving Next Week For U.S.

A very enjoyable farwell party was held at the home of Mr. Jimi Myres on Monday evening, when a large number of friends from the neighborhood gathered to wish him well on the eve of his departure for his new home in the United States. A delightful time was spent at cards and dancing. Delicious refreshments were served by the ladies. Many were the expressions of regret that a good friend and neighbor was leaving the district. But it was also quite evident that the very best wishes of his friends went with Mr. Myres to his new home in Idaho.

Official Visits Vega Lodge Last Evening

Pleasant Social Hour, Spent After The Meeting

Mrs. M. Davis, of Calgary, president of Rebekah Grand Lodge No. 97 last evening to Vega Lodge No. 97 last evening. She gave a very inspiring address which was much enjoyed by all present.

After the business meeting a pleasant social hour was spent during which Mrs. Davis, who possesses a very fine voice, sang songs which were greatly enjoyed. The local lodge also presented Mrs. Davis with a lovely afternoon tea set as a mark of their appreciation of her visit.

While in town the visiting sisters were shown through the Glass Plant and the Pottery. They were also shown through the splendid products turned out at these plants. Mrs. Davis leaves for Toronto today to attend a meeting of Sovereign Grand Lodge.

30 LIVES LOST IN SEA DISASTER

In the neighborhood of 150 lives were lost last Saturday when the three million dollar luxury liner "Morro Castle" went up in flames 30 miles from New York, and eight miles off the Jersey coast.

The boat was returning from a pleasure trip to Havana with 338 passengers and crew on board.

Lighting is said to have struck the ship and set an oil tank on fire.

Singing Class is Formed at the School

Is Under Direction of Mr. R. B. Bullen, of Medicine Hat

A splendid number of school students assembled at the school on Tuesday evening to enroll in Mr. Bullen's vocal music classes, and a most interesting and instructive lesson was taught. The next lesson will be given next Tuesday evening at 4:15 at the school. This is a wonderful opportunity for parents to give their children first class training for a very small outlay of money. The lessons are only 25 cents. Mr. Bullen will conduct a class for adults if a sufficient number should enroll for instruction.

In what better way could any one spend one evening a week than in developing a talent from which so much pleasure and profit may be derived. Lessons for adults may also be had for 25 cents each. Any one interested should communicate with any of the teachers or any member of the school board for further information.

Mr. Benjamin Swanson Died in Winnipeg, August 1934

Word was received from Winnipeg, on Aug. 16th, of Mr. Benjamin Swanson, who for a number of years farmed in the Bowell district, where he was one of its most highly respected citizens.

Local Coal Mine Still Going Strong

Output Growing and Coal is Giving Entire Satisfaction

The coal mine in connection with the Gundersen Brick & Coal Co. here, has had a wonderfully successful run for the past year. Miners have been employed continuously and the output being shipped is giving entire satisfaction to their growing list of customers.

The plant is in excellent shape for handling the output and the management is looking forward to even better times during the coming fall and winter.

Farmers and ranchers of the surrounding district will also be glad to have their wants supplied at this plant.

Spring Plowing Has Preference Over Fall

Is Result of Experiments at the Lacombe Farm

After studying the question of fall versus spring ploughing a stable lead for a number of years at the Experimental Farm Lacombe, it is believed that fall ploughing of stubble land cannot be recommended except when it is particularly free from weeds and contains plenty of moisture. If the land is weedy or very dry, any tillage given in the fall should be given with the disk or cultivator rather than the plough.

Fall ploughing can be recommended only under the most favourable conditions and should be worked down as soon as possible to prevent drying out. Soil drifting has developed as a serious objection to fall ploughing as a result of unusually dry weather coupled with high winds. The better the condition in which the fall ploughing is left from a moisture conservation standpoint, the greater the tendency there is for the soil to drift. The objection tends to cause fall ploughing to be considered with less favor with each succeeding year.

Norma Shearer Comes As Glamorous Heroine

Norma Shearer comes to the motion picture screen after an absence of some eighteen months as the glamorous heroine of "Riptide," her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, which opens Monday at the Amnath Theatre.

The story, written especially for Miss Shearer, was authored by Edmund Goulding, who also directed the picture of the same name.

Goulding, who has written numerous screen and stage hits as well as having acted and directed, last served in a capacity, curiously, in the filming of "Grand Hotel."

Robert Montgomery, who has appeared in a number of Miss Shearer's screen successes, shares leading man honors with Robert Marshall in the new film.

Included in the impressive cast are such famous stage and screen names as Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Skeets Gallagher, Ralph Forbes, Lilyan Tashman, Arthur Treacher, Earl Oxford, Helen Jerome Eddy, George Arthur, Baby Marilyn Spangler, Phyllis Coghlan, Howard Chandler Christy and Halliwell Hobbes.

Mrs. Campbell, hailed as one of England's most distinguished actresses and noted for her great triumph in the theatre as makes her film debut in the Shearer picture, playing the Broadway role of Aunt Betty.

The picture is lavishly mounted and Miss Shearer wears an elaborate wardrobe of startling new creations designed for her by Adrian, famous screen stylist. Because of the tremendous amount of interest attached to the new wardrobe, and to guard against possible duplication by fashion "mimicry," the new Shearer gowns have been kept secret from public.

Messrs. Clive and Jimmy Nesbitt, of Calgary, have taken over the management of the Bassano Mall, which was at one time owned and operated by their father L. D. Nesbitt, who is now superintendent of the Alberta Wheat Pool Publicity department. Clive and Jimmy are the youngest newspaper publishers in Western Canada and the Review wishes them every success in their new undertaking.

Alberta Grain Growers READ THIS MESSAGE!

It is of vital importance that a strong co-operative Elevator System should flourish in Alberta. It is desirable that such an elevator system should be under the control of Alberta grain growers—men who are actually following the occupation of farming.

The Alberta Pool Elevator system is the only organization in Alberta that meets these requirements.

All country elevators of the Pool system are operated under public license and as such are in a position to handle the grain of any grower.

Alberta Pool Elevators are on a sound financial basis; are efficiently managed and can give unexcelled service to the grain growers of this province. Alberta Pool agents are carefully selected and have strict instructions to give fair treatment, including proper weights and correct grades, to all patrons.

Alberta Pool Elevators operate on the co-operative principle of "Each for all and all for each"—a principle which will tend to bring a measure of economic and social justice, peace and prosperity throughout the world.

Farmers Must Prosper

Trade Will Revive When They Get Fair Prices For Products
Economists realize that unless the primary producers get reasonable returns for their labors and investments, farming will linger. The farmer, for example, has nothing to do with fixing the prices for his own products. When he goes into a store he is told that a suit of clothes costs so much or a pound of bacon so many cents; but when he tries to sell any of his own produce, he is told that he must take what he is offered for the wool, for the milk or the hogs from which the bacon is taken.

The Niagara Falls Review, the other day pointed to the case of an Ontario farmer who sent seven hundred pounds of hogs to market and got enough out of the transaction to purchase one pound of bacon. Obviously the farmer cannot continue doing that sort of thing. All of which is brought to mind by a paragraph in the annual report of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association. It is pointed out that: "Seventy per cent of the world's population is agricultural. Seventy per cent of the customers of the world's industry are agriculturists. Broadly speaking, all the farmers of the world are in the same boat. When will come this much-announced trade revival from an impoverished agriculture? Apparently, the thirty per cent of the world's population that is industrial—and incidentally a large percentage of those who are unemployed and on relief, are going to have a real revival amongst themselves? We extend our best wishes to the owners of the spinning wheel, but only for a short duration. The revival will come when seventy per cent of the agricultural part of the world, cease producing at a loss and have a surplus with which to buy from the industrial thirty per cent. Surely this is not a suicidal position.—Brookville Recorder and Times.

Harvested Apples Alive

Changes Take Place During Time They Are Stored
When an apple is picked, it is a living thing and there are constant and gradual changes going on throughout its structure. The speed of these changes is largely governed by the temperature and humidity at which the fruit is stored. A freshly harvested apple contains sugars and sometimes part of it is changed to sucrose or cane sugar. Then the sucrose is gradually used up and turned into reducing sugars and acid. When the starch and sucrose have practically disappeared the apple begins to pick and becomes what is ordinarily called "overripe." The length of time taken by these changes varies in different varieties. It is a variable characteristic, not solely related to the actual amount of these materials in the fruit, for there are several fruit varieties which have higher sugar content than many other varieties. However, it has been found in the laboratories of the Dominion Department of Agriculture that, all other things being equal, the fruit with the highest total sugar content has the best keeping quality of the samples or that variety.

Pleasant People

Possess A Magic Which Makes Them Always Welcome
Pleasant people make a dull day cheerful; they have somewhat of the same effect in a room as an open fire in a house of fireless people. We feel for the time as if everybody were pleasant because they are. We are always expecting to meet a pleasant. They may not be beautiful—they are often plain; they are not always the wildest; but they possess a magic superior to all these which dwells in their will and cleverness of others, and makes these of small value beside their own attractiveness.

In Right Direction

"I am a soldier of the Lord," said the Salvation Army officer in an old Highland house, who asked him what his regiment was.
"I go to heaven," he replied.
"The Devil, then, to Aberdeen to fight him again, and then down to Dundee, Edinburgh and Newcastle."
The soldier straightened to his feet and gave the other a resounding clap on the back. "That's right, but I mean, oh, well, gimme some peanuts."

Client: "I'm deeply indebted to you, Mr. Attorney, but I would have done without you?"
Lawyer: "About five years."

EUROPE SPENDS HEAVILY IN BUILDING AIR FORTS

Europe has turned to the air with feverish interest and each nation is pouring out millions to build up powerful military aviation fleets. Since the rise in power of General Hermann Goerring, Germany's minister of air, the Nazi regime has quadrupled its expenditure for "civil" aircraft, and many schools for flying have been established. England has appropriated almost $100,000,000 to double her airplane squadrons, and Acting Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin states the new boundary of England, because of the air, is now the Rhine. France, Italy, Russia and the smaller countries also possess powerful aviation corps, and each is planning even stronger forces in the air to keep its defensive power on a par with neighboring nations.

Just Taking A Chance

Story Of Man Trying To Suit Clothes To Weather

You wake up shivering slightly, and your wife remarks that you are pretty cold for August. You feel very December standing in the bathroom shaving, and at once the problem of what clothes to wear comes up.
"This is your day for the linen suit, but you're a little afraid to put it on; it might be cold. You decide that tweeds would be just about right, and you start putting on tweeds.
"You remember that the last time it was cold in the morning, and you donned tweeds it turned blistering before noon, and you deluged and you stuck your head out the window to see how cold it really is, and a pretty girl across the street looks up and smiles. You recollect that your shirt is not buttoned, and your fork back badly.
"Your wife calls out that the weather forecast predicts fair and continued cool. You think that makes the forecast suit would be cool enough for a hot day, yet warm enough if it stays cool. You look for your summer suit, and find it is the cleaner's.
"You mutter oh, what's the use. You decide that the weather forecaster is wrong most of the time anyway, and you put on your linen. Your wife remarks that linen is too cool to-day, and that settles it. You keep them on.
"It stays cool all day, until 5 o'clock, when it becomes downright cold. You are annoyed because people insist on staring at you in your linen on the way home. You almost run the last few sidewalks, and duck quickly into the house.—New York Post.

Efficient London "Bobbie" Also Arranges For Spare Bulb

Ever efficient, London's "bobbie" has now made it possible for a policeman to be scientifically clubbed over the head with a truncheon at night, this feat to be accompanied by a newly-invented combination blackjack and flashlight.
It was invented in the inventive brain of Sergeant Elliot, Tinker of the metropolitan police force, and the proud inventor demonstrated his brain-child before officials at the Savoy hotel.
A spare light bulb is carried in the handle of the instrument "in case," the sergeant explains, "the other one should be broken during an unusually hard skull."
"I want some hot poppered butt corn—I mean hot buttered pop but, or rather hot buttered pop but, I mean, oh, well, gimme some peanuts."

The largest merry-go-round factory in the world is located at Consey Island, New York. Its products are shipped to Japan, South Africa, Australia and elsewhere.

Beneficial To Eyes

Normal Tears Are Often Better Than Any Medicine

Normal tears are "hundreds of times" more effective in protecting the eye than are solutions of drugs. This statement is made by a leading American Ophthalmologist, Dr. W. L. Benedict. "Tears," Dr. Benedict says, "are supplied in amounts that are properly regulated, and they counteract the effect of most air-borne bacteria." Because the general public has learned that many eye lotions are put up in a solution of boric acid, the better-informed immediately turn to it as the one safe substance that can be used for any disorder of the eye.
The healing properties of boric acid are infinitesimal," Dr. Benedict declares. "It is used chiefly by physicians as a vehicle to carry small quantities of more potent drugs; because it retards the growth of fungi or contaminating bacteria, it forms a convenient way to dispense medicine for the eye. The folk our grandmothers had in goat's milk, make oil, or tobacco juice has been largely discarded. But the price the public had to pay for its experience has been the loss of sight for thousands of people."

A tiny metal mirror, mounted on a slender rod and vibrated at scanning speeds has been presented by William H. Priess, New York radio engineer, as what he considers the solution of one of television's major problems.
With this device and its light source, Priess says, he will be able to reproduce television images on a screen 2 1/2 feet square, approximately equal to the quality of home movie pictures.

First Mention Of Spoons

Reference To One Of Oldest Utensils Found In Bible

Of all the articles and utensils that are used in the modern household there is none which can be traced to earlier beginnings than the spoon, says a writer in the Washington Post. Besides having a fascinating history, a spoon is one of the loveliest most graceful pieces used on the table. Going back to its origin, the first reference made to spoons in the Bible, where Moses was commanded to make gold spoons for the tabernacle. During medieval times spoons were made of silver, horn or wood. Even though England is so closely associated with lovely silver designs, it was the continent that silver spoons were used first. . . . probably Italy. After the silver spoon became popular in England about the time of the Tudor and Stuart reigns it became fashionable to give spoons as christening gifts. They were called spoons because of the figure of an apostle at the end of the spoon. A complete set of these was very valuable and were owned only by the wealthy families. This gave rise to the saying of "being born with a silver spoon in his mouth."

A Snappy Orchestra

Two Members Over Seventy And Two Past Eighty

Hiram Bailey and his snappy orchestra have summer visitors at Greenfield, New Hampshire, guessing. As strangers listen outside the dance hall to the lively strains from within their mental picture of the musicians is anything but accurate.
Hiram is 84. Others in the band are Fred Warren, 71, Will Bryant, 80, and John Draper, a 70-year-old youngster just coming along.

One Of The Best Of Cocktails

Tomato Cocktail Is Enjoying A Wide Popularity

The return once more of the tomato season is a reminder that during the past year wherever Canadian products were shown at the various exhibitions around the British Isles, it was the Canadian tomato cocktail that took the country by storm. Not only is the tomato an outstanding thirst quencher but research has shown that the tomato taste is the least objectionable of heavier foods and increases resistance to colds, pneumonia, and such like. The tomato is particularly helpful in promoting the normal growth of children. However that may be, the Canadian tomato cocktail sprang into popularity of its own volition, both on account of the simplicity of its manufacture and its enticing flavor. The tomato cocktail is made from tomato juice with small amounts of mild spices added according to taste, such as cloves, allspice, cinnamon, and red pepper supplemented by the required amounts of salt and sugar.
To make the juice, the tomatoes should be slightly pulped with a potato masher, placed in a covered kettle, and allowed to heat on the stove until almost boiling. After the pulp has reached the boiling point, it is ready to be passed through a sieve to remove the skin and seeds. It is imperative that no time be lost in the operation because exposure to air will cause a loss of the nutritive value of the juice. The juice after straining should be returned to the kettle and brought again just to boiling point when it is filled into the sterilized bottles and kept hot. The sealed bottles are then placed in boiling water for a few minutes to sterilize for larger ones. Tomatoes put up in the cold pack method are ideal for making juice during the winter months. For this purpose, place the tomatoes solidly in clean jars or wide-mouthed jars, add 1/2 teaspoon of salt, partly fill the containers and immerse in warm water. Bring the water to boiling point, keep it so for 25 minutes. Remove the containers from the water, completely seal, and allow to cool.

Stimulates Milk Production

Experiments With Hormones Expected To Show Benefits

New experiments with a gland secretion which stimulates milk production by dairy cattle, and may do the same thing for human mothers, are being undertaken by the agricultural department.
The secretion of the secretion—a hormone—improves on nature by stimulating production of milk in animals that have never borne young as well as those that have.
Hormones are chemical substances carried through the blood in the stream and necessary to stimulate various organs to normal activity.
A large percentage of human mothers now are unable to produce enough milk to nourish a baby. Further development of this milk-producing hormone may make it possible to use it as a stimulant of milk production so that such mothers can nurse their children normally, said Everett L. Evans, of the bureau of dairy industry, who reported on the experiments.

Extinct Animals

Trustee Of British Museum Is Afraid Gorillas And Whales Will Be Added To List

Possibility gorillas and whales would be added in a few years to the long list of extinct mammals was seen by Rt. Hon. A. L. Fisher, warden of New London, Oxford, England, and trustee of the British Museum. Fisher was in Murray Bay for a short visit before leaving for Gaspé to attend the Jacques-Cartier quarter-centennial celebration as one of the official British delegates.
No gorilla was seen in the collection and is now a member of the governing body of the Museum of Natural History which is occupied in endeavoring to protect whales and gorillas from extinction at the hands of whalers and hunters. "Unless we are careful," Mr. Fisher said, "there will not be a gorilla or a whale left in the world in a few years."

Saskatchewan Oasis

Flowers And Vegetables Grow In Beauty Spot In Drouth Area

Four miles west of Willow Bunch, Sask., just off the highway leading into St. Victor, is the site of an abandoned coal mine.
The mine became unproductive and deserted. Years ago, moved into the vicinity. They discovered springs of pure, clear water flowing up from underground sources and the intervening years have turned the old coal mine site into an oasis that, today, is an outstanding beauty spot in the centre of the south's worst drouth area.
The place is a home, a garden and a picnic grounds and belongs to two pioneer owners, thirty men of the old cow-puncher days, C. Champigny and Dauphine.
The latest methods of irrigation and culture have been applied and, for a reward, the two pioneers have one of the beauty spots of the west. Landscaped in the centre of a 40-acre plot, the garden produces fruit and vegetables and flowers in great abundance.
The project was made a success not without hard work. The area was cleared in parts of trees and stumps and stones; a vast amount of work was done to grade and level the plot; fertilizer was worked into the soil.
Flowering springs were harnessed, so that the 20-gallon a-day water supply would do its best work and in the proper way.
Every inch of two and a half acres is irrigated by the scientific use of the spring water. From the ground grow native shrubs, flowers, wallflowers, beans and sugar peas. Melons of all kinds, musk, Banna, French melon, did, cucumbers, tomatoes. Then there is every kind of flower imaginable and almost every variety of vegetable one could desire. The yield of cucumbers this season the growers estimate at about one and one-half tons. Tomatoes will equal 14,000 pounds.

To the Saskatchewan oasis—a breath of green and a touch of fertility in a wind-swept drouth area—many people have marvelled at the wonders of growth and the abundance of produce, made possible by the perseverance and skill of two

Many Tons Of Insects Are In Great Help

All garden insects are not injurious. In fact many of them are beneficial, continually doing good by destroying those species which are harmful. The insect which the gardener seeks that help the gardener are the different kinds of ladybird beetles. Both in their larval and adult stages. They feed almost exclusively upon plant lice and scale insects. Another kind of beetle, the grey ground beetle, is a particularly useful insect. This beetle and its voracious grub, destroy enormous numbers of cut worms. The beetle is brownish-black, with the wing-cases spotted with coppery red—hence its name. The large harpacticus, a list of extinct mammals was seen by Rt. Hon. A. L. Fisher, warden of New London, Oxford, England, and trustee of the British Museum. Editor Was In A Bad Way

He Was Going To Need A Lot Of Things If His Subscribers Did

Not Pay Up

It is reported that one of the fastidious newly-married ladies of this town knelt bread with her gloves on, and many of the parties in the peculiar, but there are others. The editor of this paper needs bread with his shoes on, he needs bread with his pants on, and unless some of the delinquent subscribers to this "Old Flag of Freedom" pony up before long he will need bread without a darn thing on, and Wisconsin is no Garden of Eden, in the winter.—"Mills Messenger" (U.S.)
